

Cupola Pizzeria Wins Coveted Award for Best Restaurant by boutique DESIGN magazine

Cupola Pizzeria, designed by Cass Calder Smith of CCS Architecture in San Francisco for Lark Creek Restaurant Group, was awarded Best Restaurant by boutique DESIGN magazine.

“If you don’t think a mall-based restaurant can be elegant, this cutting-edge space in San Francisco’s Westfield Centre should change your mind. The 100-seat restaurant and bar takes its name from the architectural structure it sits under on the mall’s fourth floor, the design concept intermixes elements of a Milan fashion show and the regional food and wine of Naples. Its centerpiece is a high-gloss red “runway” table that leads to the restaurant’s Italian-made pizza oven.”

As the only hospitality interiors magazine that focuses specifically on boutique hospitality, boutique DESIGN is the authority on the boutique hotel, spa and restaurant market.
